Urban Struggles + Media Activism

Submitted by john on February 11, 2009 - 18:44

Philadelphia's Media Mobilizing Project has been using media activism, online and off, as a tool for building solidarity between different social justice struggles in Philly - in this panel, they'll present their methods and organization, and explore the relevance of media work as activism in conversation with members of some of the groups they've partnered with.
